The issues of the Illineis Banks are own fully are millious of the surveys depends, in part, the value of every bushel of grain and every toot of land in the State; hat all proper inquiry into the stability of the system and the helithfulness of its working is riftually cut off. Most of the members of either House come here unacquasiated with the details of banking, with the dangers incident to it, and with the good it may accompile, but they are expected, before fairly warm in their seats, to be able to speak like an oracle upon schattver relates to masters of finance, and to vote, when financial questions are under discussion, infallibly corpect every time. Not this only: other questions of equal importance demand assunitaneous decision; matter concerning taxation and the revenue, education, internal improvement and a best of lesser things distract brains, the sole power of which might be spent upon the currency question alone without any striking result, though never so long employed this wilness of its work in two housand men at work on the rough of the bonds of the St. Croix and Lake Superior Railroad Company have been re-ordered in the details of banking, with the dangers incident to it, and with the good it may accompile to the passage of the sole to see a value of the second the sole of the second the sole of the second content of the speak of the sole of t for work, it is a source of wonderment why

The Speaker of the House annou standing Committees, on the opening of the ession, this afternoon. Your readers may be ure that their friends in that body have not een placed where they will do any politica mischief.

A company of ten gentlemen connected with the Republican Press of this State, called upon the Governor at the Executive Mansion this afornoon. They were very cordially received and severally introduced to His Excellency and severally introduced to His Excellency with whom they spent an hour very pleasantly. Opportunely, the Lieutenant Governor, Jons Wood of Quincy, who arrived in the city had evening, made his first call while they were there. He is a hale, silver-baired gentilems whose heartiness and geniality are among the valued contributions of phoness times. Gov. Wood has been thirty-eight years in thinois. He has been a witness of her growth from a few scattered frontier posts to the postition silve now sceneples, that of the fourth State in the Union; and, that he will now begin to be a contribution of which work on the following buildings, the scattered frontier posts to the postition silve now sceneples, that of the fourth State in the Union; and, that he will now begin to be a contribution of the control of the tion she now eccupies, that of the fourth State in the Union; and, that he will now begin to be nature to her interests, the reddest-mouthed of the Buchaniers cannot believe.

In the Senate, that contest over the adoption of rules was deferred by the reference of the whole matter to a special committee. Upon their report we shall have the struggle renewed, if, in the meantime, those who are attempting this innovation do not get ashamed of the meantime because in which they are placed ing this innovation do not get assumed of an unenviable position in which they are placed, and back down. In the House, where the Speaker of their choice presides, the appoint-ment of committees by the Chair is emiuently orthodor; at the other end of the capital where a Republican wields the mace, orthodoxy means for the edification of such we subjoin the record of Mr. Denio's summer's work. He is a brick bayer, and has superintended, trowel in hand, the brick work on the following buildings, whose size and probable cost are appended:

Three small stores at Dunleth, for A. Switzer; cost 35,000. Two stores for heirs of Owen Reilly, on Main street, 3 stories high, 75 feet deep, by 24 front, each; cost $8,000. One store on Main street for H. Switzer, 65 feet deep by 18 front, three stories high; cost, about $4,000. One store on Main street for H. Fricke, jeweller, 65 feet deep by 18 front, three stories high; cost, about $7,000. One store for Burrichter's Hellman, 100 feet deep by 24 feet front, 3 stories on Main street, and 4 on Bench; cost, about $8,000. One store for John Breedel on Main street, 70 feet deep by 21 front, 3 stories; cost about $4,500. One church on the hill, for the Baptista, 45 by 34 feet, 2 stories; cost, $2,500. Two stories for A. J. Jackson, Main street, each 75 feet deep by 24-front, 3 stories; probable cost, $7,500. Two stores for M. P. Silverburg, on Main street, each 55 feet deep by 18 front, 5 stories; cost, $5,500. One two story brick house on Spring street, for John Weber; cost about $4,500. One shoot house on plank road, two miles from the uity; house on plank road, two miles from the uty; cost, $1,000.

The toral cost of these eighteen buildings, for which Mr. Denic, did the mason work, is $64,000. We are not certain that we have included in this statement all the buildings he has eracted, but it is nearly correct, and we challenge any other caunty in Illinois to show a legislatur who has done more for the good off, his country, during the past sammer, than dir't townsman and representative, or on who more fully deserves the title of "Hon."—Galesso Advantage.

One Sabbath, a clergyman in the village was called upon by a man who wished him to go forthwish to a hotel, then and there to bind him in the silken cords of matrimony. The minister having previously engaged to preach a functal sermon at that hour, delegated a visiting brother to accompany him, who en arriving at the designated house, made the twain one fiesh. The bridgergoom's jey knew no bounds, and in the fullness of his heart he handed the clergyman a ten dollar note, non receiving which he proceeded to church. Soon the services commenced, the prayer was made, and the first hymn was being read, when the new married man was seen hurrying down the nice, towards the pulpit. His excited manner and frightened looks riveted the attention of the congregation. Of Every Description. WOOL, SILK AND COTTON LITTLE, ALDEN & CO., West of New York.
